

COOLROE HOUSE FARM – REVIEW

Răciulă Ben-Emanuel

My Erasmus traineeship at Coolroe House Farm in Ireland was an incredible learning experience. I gained valuable hands-on skills in milking, animal care, and farm mechanics—learning to maintain and repair equipment, which was a huge bonus. The farm owners were incredibly welcoming and patient, taking the time to explain every task and process in detail. I was able to dive deep into the day-to-day operations, from managing livestock to fixing machinery, and it gave me a real sense of how much work goes into running a farm.

What I appreciated most was how much trust they placed in me to get involved in every aspect of the farm. It wasn't just about learning tasks, but also about understanding the rhythm of rural life and how everything works together. The hands-on experience was invaluable, and I left with new skills and a deep appreciation for farm life.

I sincerely recommend this experience to any Erasmus students looking to gain practical, real-world skills while immersing themselves in the farming life. It was a unique opportunity that truly enriched my Erasmus journey, and I'm grateful for everything I learned.

COOLROE HOUSE FARM-REVIEW

Participating in my Erasmus traineeship at the Coolroe House Farm was one of the most memorable experiences of my life.

The traineeship offered a perfect balance of hands-on work and learning opportunities. I gained valuable insights into farming practices and animal care, such as the nutrition, reproduction and exploitation of dairy cows. It was inspiring to see how traditional farming methods could be combined with modern technology resulting a flourishing business that satisfies both the cows and the owners.

The staff was always eager to share their expertise and ensure I felt comfortable and confident in my tasks. My tasks were well explained to me and I was treated with patience and understanding every time I made a mistake.

Living in the beautiful countryside surrounding the farm was an added bonus—it gave me a chance to immerse myself in the local culture, meet wonderful people, and experience life like a real Irish farmer.

Overall, my experience at the Coolroe House Farm was a truly enriching experience that taught me practical skills, broadened my perspective, and deepened my appreciation for dairy farming. I highly recommend this opportunity to anyone considering an Erasmus placement.

My name is Melisa Todorova, and I recently completed a two-month stay at Coolroe House Farm in Ireland, a dairy farm with a capacity of 200 cows. This experience has been incredibly enriching, both professionally and personally. During my time on the farm, I had the opportunity to learn a great deal about modern dairy farming practices. I gained hands-on experience in milking, feeding, and taking care of the cattle, while also becoming familiar with the day-to-day responsibilities involved in managing a large-scale livestock operation. The knowledge and skills I acquired will be invaluable for my future in agriculture. Beyond the work itself, my stay in Ireland was unforgettable. I had the pleasure of working alongside a welcoming and supportive team, and we shared many memorable moments together. The beauty of the Irish countryside, with its rolling green hills and peaceful atmosphere, left a lasting impression on me. I also had the chance to explore local culture and traditions, which made my experience even more special. I am deeply grateful for this opportunity and for everything I learned and experienced during my stay. It was truly a wonderful chapter in my life.

Sincerely, Melisa Todorova

My name is Milka Argirova. Over the course of two months, we had the opportunity to complete a professional internship at Coolroe House Farm – a dairy farm located in a rural area in the northern part of County Cork, about an hour's drive from the cities of Cork and Limerick. The farm is excellently organized, with a modern approach to livestock farming and sustainable resource management. During our internship, we took part in various activities related to milking, feeding, and caring for the animals, as well as maintaining hygiene and the overall condition of the farm. We gained valuable knowledge about the daily tasks on the farm and developed practical skills that will be beneficial for our future professional careers.

During our stay, we had the opportunity to visit several incredible Irish cities, including Cork, Killarney, Limerick, Kilkenny, and Dublin. Each of them impressed us with its unique atmosphere, beautiful architecture, green parks, and the warm attitude of the local people.

In the short time we spent in Ireland, we truly experienced Irish culture – not only through the traditional music, cuisine, and celebrations, but also through the everyday life, the friendliness of the people, and their deep respect for nature. This internship not only enriched us professionally, but also made us more open-minded, independent, and inspired to continue developing in the fields of agriculture and animal husbandry.

Ireland left unforgettable memories in our hearts and the feeling that the world is full of opportunities for those who dare to seek them.

Sincerely, Milka Argirova
